DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicants' election, with traverse, of Group I (Claims 24-35 and 40) and SEQ ID NO: 12 in the reply filed on November 30, 2007, are acknowledged.
2. It is noted that Claims 28 and 31 contain hundreds of oligopeptides or polypeptides. The Office has determined that an additional species election requirement is necessary as set forth below.

Species Election

3. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features. Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. § 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable.
4. Applicant is required to elect one peptide which contains ONE specific amino acid position, or ONE basic combination of amino acid positions of SEQ ID NO:12 recited in Claims 28 and 31.
5. According to PCT Rule 13.2 and to the guidelines in Section (f)(i)(B)(I) of Annex B and in Section (f)(i)(A) of the PCT Administrative Instructions, all alternatives of a Markush Group must have a common structure and a common property or activity. Here, the most peptides of Claims 28 and 31 are not regarded as being of similar nature because all the alternatives do not share a common structure and a common property or activity. For example, a 10-mer oligopeptide comprising 5 consecutive amino acids and the amino acid position 72 of SEQ ID NO:12 does not share a common structure with a 10-mer oligopeptide comprising 5 consecutive amino acids and the amino acid position 139 of SEQ ID NO:12. Thus, the most oligopeptides of Claims 28 and 31 lack a common structure and a common immunogenicity or biological activity.
6. Moreover, according to PCT Rule 13.2 and to the guidelines in Section (f)(i)(B)(I) of Annex B of the PCT Administrative Instructions, all alternatives of a Markush Group must have a common structure which is a significant structural element. For instance, although some peptides of Claims 28 and 31 may share 5 consecutive amino acids of SEQ ID NO:12, the peptides are not regarded as being of similar nature because the shared common structure is not a significant structural element. Additional sequences of the peptides, rather than 5 consecutive amino acids of SEQ ID NO:12, could result in different compound from a small peptide comprising 5 consecutive amino acids of SEQ ID NO:12. For example, HBV core antigen particle comprising any of 5 consecutive amino acids of SEQ ID NO:12 does not have same structure as a small peptide comprising 5 consecutive amino acids of SEQ ID NO:12. Thus, the shared common structure of peptides, such as 5 consecutive amino acids of SEQ ID NO:12 in Claims 28 and 31 is not a significant structural element.

7. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of an invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

8. The election of an invention may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected invention.

9. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable upon the elected invention.

10. Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

11. The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and a product claim is subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be rejoined in accordance with the provisions of MPEP § 821.04. Process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the patentable product will be entered as a matter of right if the amendment is presented prior to final rejection or allowance, whichever is earlier. Amendments submitted after final rejection are governed by 37 CFR 1.116; amendments submitted after allowance are governed by 37 CFR 1.312.

12. In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103, and 112. Until an elected product claim is found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowed product claim will not be rejoined. See "Guidance on Treatment of Product and Process Claims in light of In re Ochiai, In re Brouwer and 35 U.S.C. § 103(b)," 1184 O.G. 86 (March 26, 1996). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, Applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution either to maintain dependency on the product claims or to otherwise include the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.

13. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
